

FROM THE NORTH POLE

I'm baaaack! It was so hard leaving your family last Christmas Eve, but as promised, I've returned for another Christmas season!

Because it's been so long since my last visit, I thought I would remind you about a few things to keep you on the nice list!

Just because I don't talk doesn't I'm not a great listener. Sometimes Santa asks me to share the things you say, so be kind.

Remember, I can't make my nightly trip back to the North Pole until after you go to sleep at night. So, make sure you hurry to bed when it's time. I love using my magic to visit Santa to tell him about all of the good things you are doing.

Most nights, when I return to your home, I'll find a new place to "hide" and watch you. I love picking new spots and watching you look for me!

Don't forget: Never touch me. I know I'm cute and cuddly, and while I love you dearly, if you touch me, I lose my magic! If my magic is gone, I can't return to the North Pole and give Santa my report. Santa needs my report so he knows whether to put you on his Nice List or Naughty List.

Sometimes I might do something silly, like toilet paper your bedroom or make a mess with your toys. I hope you will laugh and smile and not get mad when your parents ask you to help clean up my mess. Sometimes I get bored waiting for you to wake up and find me.

On Christmas Eve, remember, my time with you will end. I will head back to the North Pole to help Santa get ready for Christmas deliveries. But, I will return again, just like before!

I can't wait for all of the fun we're going to have together!

Love,

Your Elf on the Shelf
